Our Beautiful Pickaway County!

MY, WHAT A MESS — Unsightly landscapes like this are easy to find right here in Pickaway County. This one is on the East Ringgold-Southern Road, about one-third of a mile south of Route 22. Sightings like these abound in the county, blemishes on the landscape of one of Ohio's most beautiful areas. Not only that, it's also against the law to dump along county roads, warns Sheriff Charles Radcliff.

$8 Billion U.S. Deficit Seen For Next Year

Senate's Financial Expert Sees Drop Even Without Tax Slash

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) said today the government appears headed toward an $8 billion deficit next year even without a general tax cut.

Byrd, who heads the Senate Finance Committee, said in an interview he agrees with Secretary of the Treasury Anderson that red ink spending will top $3 billion in the present fiscal year, which ends June 30.

Anderson told the American Society of Newspaper Editors Friday that even if federal revenues remain at a high level, which he said is unlikely, there will be a deficit approaching $4 billion in the year beginning July 1.

In January, President Eisenhower estimated there would be a $400 million deficit this fiscal year and a $500 million surplus next year. But that was before the deepened recession changed the picture.

Byrd said he looks for a sharper drop in revenues than Anderson estimated.

ANDERSON SAID the administration is giving daily consideration to whether a tax cut would be advisable. He added that he is opposed to any abrupt reduction, saying modification of taxes must not be based "on the theory that a single dramatic action will automatically be all that is required to assure business recovery."

Byrd said he believes resistance to tax reductions, except for possible downward revision of some excise levies, is growing in Congress.

He said he has found that some legislators he described as liberal Democrats are joining conservative Democrats and Republicans in favoring public works expenditures over tax cuts as anti-recession measures.

The Labor Department reported the number of jobless workers insured for unemployment compensation rose by 37,800 in the week ended April 5 to 3,313,900.

This was said to be the highest total since the end of World War II, but in the subsequent week a drop of 40,000 in initial claims for jobless benefits was reported.

Plans announced in Detroit indicated a slight pickup in auto industry employment. Some 60,000 workers idled this week by shutdowns at Ford, General Motors and Chrysler manufacturing plants were expected to return to work Monday. This would more than offset layoffs of 30,000 workers in a one-week shutdown of Big Three auto assembly plants across the nation.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP) — Tribal brothers of the Tuscarora Indians stood by today to help fight a four-day-old war with New York State. Police feared another clash was in the offing.

Friday passed in a calm, almost festive mood—a far cry from the flare-up Thursday that put three brave and a surveyor for the state under arrest.

But Friday night some other members of the Iroquois Confederacy began arriving at the reservation to lend support in the Tuscaroras' fight with the New York State Power Authority.

The Authority has appropriated 1,383 acres of the Tuscarora Reservation, about a fifth, for use in a $600 million power project.

Surveyors have been trying to get on the land since Wednesday but so far have been driven off.

Scores of Mohawks, Cayugas, Senecas, Oneidas and Onondagas flocked to the reservation Friday.

George A. Thomas, chief of the six-nation Confederacy that numbers an estimated 7,500 Indians, told the local chief that "the Confederacy is behind you."

Niagara County Sheriff James K. Murphy, who reached an agreement with the Tuscaroras last Thursday to keep the peace, said, "It looks like its going to be a bad situation."

Ohio Construction Program Is Swinging into High Gear

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's big state institutions building program is in high gear.

During the year nearly 11 million dollars worth of new buildings and improvements will be finished. The buildings are financed largely by the 150 million dollar bond issue approved in 1955.

The Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction's share is 75 million dollars. Of that amount, about 55 millions will go for mental hospitals and facilities, 12 millions for correctional institutions and 8 millions for juvenile institutions.

Work to be done this year is broken up into 20 different projects scattered throughout the state. Next year construction will be finished on 13 more projects, including a 3 million dollar 520-bed center for aged patients at Longview State Hospital at Cincinnati and 7.6 million dollars worth of work on the new reformatory in southern Ohio.

Ohio cares for 35,000 men, women and children suffering from mental illnesses, has 12,000 persons in its prisons for adults and 1,000 boys and girls in its juvenile institutions.

Dr. Robert A. Haines, department director, says the new buildings will permit the state to do a better job of caring for the mentally ill, prisoners and juvenile delinquents.

The department's chief of planning and construction, Zoyd M. Flaler, gave today's breakdown of projects that will be finished this year, if all construction schedules are met. He is a former state director of public works.

One project was finished on the first of this month. It is a central heating plant for the Cambridge State Hospital that cost $785,414. Later on this month expansion of central facilities at Hawthorn State Hospital at a cost of $443,861 will be finished.

Three projects will be finished May 15—a 100-bed patient building at Apple Creek State Hospital, cost $321,780; the central power plant at Tiffin State Hospital, cost $198,084; and a turbine at Marion Correctional Institution, cost $149,600.

Fifteen days later two large projects will be finished. One is a 175-bed rehabilitation center for mentally-retarded persons at Apple Creek State Hospital, cost $1,001,858. The other is a 120-bed reception and intensive therapy unit at Cambridge State Hospital, cost $883,885.

The food service unit at the Girls Industrial School at Delaware, which will cost $165,000, will be finished June 30.

A cottage for 30 boys at the Boys Industrial School at Lancaster and a vocational building, combined cost $246,058, will be finished July 1. That also is the completion date for construction of utility lines at Dayton State Hospital at a cost of $272,517.

One month later the 100-bed adult receiving hospital at Dayton State Hospital, cost $995,978, will be finished. On that same day the centralized food preparation and service unit for Columbus State School will be finished at a cost of $869,355.

Remodeling of the old marine hospital in Cleveland into a treatment center with 200 beds is scheduled to be finished Aug. 15. The cost is $856,184.

The 100-bed addition to the receiving hospital at Toledo State Hospital, cost $862,996, should be finished Sept. 1, while Oct. 15 is the completion date for the $1,066,379 reception and diagnostic center at Columbus State School. It will have 150 beds.

The $822,438 reception and intensive therapy unit, with 120 beds, will be finished at Tiffin State Hospital Nov. 1, while the addition to the medical and surgical unit there costing $145,388, will be finished one month later.

The $140,196 chapel at the Marion Correctional Institution is scheduled to be finished Nov. 15. The $900,000 medical and surgical building at Gallipolis State Institute is due to be finished Dec. 31. It will have 100 beds.

Council Sets Monday for Soviet Claims

Reds Say American Nuclear Plane Flights Court Global War

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — U.N. Security Council delegates today prepared for debate on the Soviet Union's charges, denied in Washington, that U.S. bombers were courting global war.

The 11-nation Council will meet Monday on the Soviet request that it study "urgent measures" to prevent flights of American jet bombers armed with nuclear weapons toward Soviet borders.

U.N. observers predicted that the charges probably would end as have similar Communist charges in the past—with overwhelming rejection.

U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge, Council president this month, called Monday's meeting at the request of Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev. Sobolev had sought a Council session today but a U.N. Secretariat poll of Council members showed they preferred Monday, thus gaining time to check with their governments.

SOVIET FOREIGN Minister Andrei Gromyko first made the charges at a Moscow news conference Friday. He said his government knew U.S. planes with nuclear bombs flew over polar regions toward the Soviet Union.

Gromyko said nuclear war could result from the "smallest error of an American technician."

White House press secretary James Hagerty labeled Gromyko's statements untrue. The State Department denied, as Gromyko charged, the United States was "conducting provocative flights over the polar regions or in the vicinity of the U.S.S.R."

The department said SAC was engaged only in practice to keep up its deterrent power and would attack only on President Eisenhower's orders.

It did not dispute that U.S. bombers on training exercises sometimes fly toward the Soviet Union but said the Air Force's safeguards to prevent an unauthorized attack are foolproof.

Farmer Gets $2,500 Award From Ex-Boss

BATAVIA (AP) — Russell Edgington, former Felicity farmer, has won a $2,500 award in a suit for malicious prosecution against Dr. Elmer J. Glassmeyer, Cincinnati heart specialist. A common pleas court jury made the award.

Edgington, who sued for $10,000, charged that when he was a tenant on a farm owned by the doctor's wife in 1953, Dr. Glassmeyer filed a charge against him of forgery involving a milk check.

WORLD EVENT — King Baudouin, of Belgium, opens the Brussels World Fair with an earnest prayer that science will be the salvation and not the destruction of men. Immediately after his speech, the King proceeded into the main fairground area and kindled a flame which will burn until the fair closes Oct. 19. More than 30,000,000 people are expected to attend.

Ohio Utilities Ask Rate Hikes

$40 Million a Year Studied by Commission

COLUMBUS (AP)—Utility companies serving Ohio have before the Utilities Commission rate increase applications which, if granted will increase their gross revenues by more than $40 million a year.

That is on top of the $87,568 in increased rates the commission has granted since the year began.

By contrast, the commission granted a total of $1,791,698 in increased rates last year, $860,219 during 1956, $67,145 in 1955.

The commission does not always grant the full amount asked by a utility. But under Ohio law it has to assure a utility of fair and reasonable earnings on the valuation of its property.

Largest rate case pending is that of Ohio Bell Telephone Co. for a $28 million annual increase in revenue. Second largest, is the $5½ million asked by Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co.

OTHERS OF the more than two score rate increase applications pending include:

Northwestern Telephone Service Co. of Wauseon $171,998, Lima Telephone & Telegraph Co. $531,185, Ohio Midland Light & Power Co. $78,300, Dayton Power & Light Co. (in Dayton) $1,365,396, Dayton Power & Light Co. (unincorporated areas) $313,035.

Middlepoint Telephone Co. in Van Wert County not determined, Continental Telephone Co. of Putnam County $6,352, Van Wert Telephone Co. $62,726 (hearing next Tuesday).

Cash Give-Away Brings Arrest

COLUMBUS (AP)—You can't give money away in Columbus, at least not when you appear to be intoxicated.

Harry J. Martin, 57, who told police he has given away thousands of dollars since he left Honolulu last week, tried it Friday night. He wound up spending the night in city jail "mostly for his own protection," police reported.

Patrolman Edgar Williams found Martin standing at a downtown corner, casually passing out signed travelers checks.

Martin had given away about $200 and had $460 left when Patrolman Williams decided to put a halt to the donations.

Space Advances Told by Scientist

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. scientists are on the threshold of being able to take a remote control look at any spot on the globe, the Navy's research chief says. He agrees it soon may be possible to use the moon as a reconnaissance satellite.

Rear Adm. John T. Hayward acknowledged this Friday at a hearing of the Special House Space Committee.

He refused details other than to say both possibilities result from breakthroughs in electronics development achieved in the last six months at Naval Research Laboratories. If he said anything more, "they'll shoot me," Hayward said.

Hayward did say, however, the breakthroughs would permit monitoring of the world by either sight or sound. He didn't elaborate.

Another witness before the committee was Rear Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, the Navy's nuclear power boss, who counseled against big crash programs for space exploration.

INSTEAD, Rickover advised Congress to keep its feet on the ground in appropriating money for space projects. The outspoken admiral also said the entire defense establishment is too big and costly.

Meantime, the Navy reported spectacular results in the testing of its air-to-surface Bulbup missile.

It said a carrier pilot destroyed a four-inch square target two miles away on his first shot with the 1,300 mile an hour missile.

SPRINGFIELD, Vt. (AP) — Brunette Priscilla "Polly" Whitcomb, who vanished from the Smith College campus for 17 months, says she voluntarily broke off her romance with a handsome parolee living "a life of false pretenses."

The 20-year-old daughter of U.S. Atty. Louis G. Whitcomb told newsmen she intends to stay home until she makes plans for the future and "these plans do not involve any other individual at the present time."

Richard S. Thatcher, 21, the restaurant counterman for whom Polly left school in November, 1956, was taken from Boston to Northampton, Mass., late Friday to face a charge of unlawfully obtaining an automobile by trick or fraudulent representation.

The charge is based on Thatcher's renting of a car before the pair disappeared. The car was found later in Boston.

Boston police quoted Thatcher as saying he loved the girl and wanted to marry her. He said they had not married though they lived at three addresses in Boston under the names of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kutz.

Thatcher, from Evanston, Ill., was paroled from Colorado State Reformatory in 1955 after serving a sentence for passing a bad check. In the fall of 1956 he obtained a job in a coffee shop across the street from the Smith College campus in Northampton. It was here that he and Polly met.

Congressman Jenkins Gets Extensive Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. George W. Calver, Capitol physician, said Friday Rep. Jenkins (R-Ohio), 77-year-old dean of the Ohio GOP delegation in Congress, may be undergoing extensive checkups at Bethesda Naval Hospital for another week or two.

Jenkins, who was admitted to the hospital several days ago, is reported to be a "little tired."

Police Fear More Trouble In Indian Fuss

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP) — Tribal brothers of the Tuscarora Indians stood by today to help fight a four-day-old war with New York State. Police feared another clash was in the offing.

Surveyors have been trying to get on the land since Wednesday but so far have been driven off.

Scores of Mohawks, Cayugas, Senecas, Oneidas and Onondagas flocked to the reservation Friday.

Niagara County Sheriff James K. Murphy, who reached an agreement with the Tuscaroras last Thursday to keep the peace, said, "It looks like its going to be a bad situation."

Prisoners Return Ahead of Schedule

DALHART, Tex. (AP)—Two prisoners who left a note explaining why they were breaking out of jail are back again.

Allan Hoefler of Bartlesville, Okla., and Rowland Mahler of Los Angeles, left this note:

"Sorry we had to leave like this. We'll be back as soon as we get enough money for an attorney. Would appreciate it if you could postpone the trial until June. Will get in touch with you. Without any money we haven't got a chance."

After tramping across 14 miles of brush Friday, the two hailed a car for a ride on U.S. Highway 54. It was Deputy Sheriff Claude Roper who gave them their ride back to jail.

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Herbert Hoover, who is 83, underwent a gall bladder operation today at Harkness Pavilion of the Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center. The operation began at 8 a. m. and ended at 9:15 a. m. The hospital said his condition was "satisfactory."

Virginia Net Out for Ohio Jail Escapees

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Police searched flophouses, alleys and main streets today for the last two of five prisoners who slugged their way out of Summit County jail in Akron, Ohio, Wednesday.

Meanwhile, a police court hearing was scheduled for Jack Adey, 23-year-old escapee recaptured here Friday after a police chase. Adey was held under a state charge of being a fugitive.

Still at large and the object of a widening police search are Frank Sprenz, 28, charged with armed robbery, and Richard Hoskinson, 28, charged with burglary. Both are considered dangerous.

Sprenz and Hoskinson, both armed, fled on foot Friday after the stolen car carrying them and Adey crashed into a stone wall on a dead end street to wind up a police chase. Adey remained in the car and was taken without incident.

Adey, Sprenz, Hoskinson, Virgil Akers, 21, of Akron, and George Huff, 23, made their break from the jail by using a key fashioned from a piece of metal from a cell cot to open the cell door.

In jail here Friday night, Adey described Sprenz as the "brains" behind the break. He said they abandoned their first stolen car in Akron and stole a second. This one was abandoned at a farmhouse south of Akron. There they stole the car they drove to Norfolk in.

Ike Seeking Merger

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration reportedly wants to merge the Federal Civil Defense Administration and the Office of Defense Mobilization.

Lockbourne Men Get Quick Justice

Four Lockbourne Air Force Base men got quick justice here yesterday.

They appeared in Circleville Municipal Court on charges growing out of a hub cap stealing incident early Friday morning. The four were captured by local police and sheriff's deputies after being spotted by an off-duty policeman.

Two of the quartet faced three charges. They were Jerry W. Cooper, 21, and Kenneth I. Dreisher, 20. Both men were fined $200 and costs and 30 days in jail, but $50 of the fine was suspended along with the jail sentence on a petit larceny charge. They were placed on probation for one year.

Judge Sterling Lamb also fined both men $200 and costs, with $50 suspended, and placed each one on a year's probation on a count of stealing auto parts, then duplicated the fine and sentence on a second count against each man. The probation, a year for each charge, is to run consecutively.

Stealing auto parts is a more serious charge than petit larceny and carries a penalty of $100-$500 fine of 3-6 months in jail.

Bachelor King To Be Host At Royal Ball

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—Bachelor King Baudouin will dance with pretty princesses from all over Europe tonight at Belgium's first Royal Ball in 24 years.

Sources in the Royal Palace denied the 24-year-old monarch's party is actually a marriage mart. The 1958 Brussels World's Fair probably has more to do with it. So far Baudouin hasn't been looking for a queen.

Many of the girls have names that go back to the days when Baudouin's ancestors were stomping around in chain mail, but most of the princesses don't have thrones to go with their titles.

Holland and Sweden are the only two reigning royal houses sending their lovely emissaries to the dance floor. Swedish princesses Brigitta and Desiree and Dutch princesses Beatrix and Irene will be there.

Baudouin is a serious young man who in seven years on the throne has shown no public interest in les girls, royal or otherwise. Even if he decided to pop the question tonight he wouldn't have much privacy since the guest list for this little soiree runs to 6,000, plus scores of subjects still besieging the palace for invites.

Jones said: "I'm a Negro. I know some of the things you experience, but there are laws to counteract all situations and the law does not distinguish among colors."

Jones told of playing against Judd, who is white.

He said: "When you're playing the game, you don't really see the man as being colored."

Then came the tour. At children's convalescent home, the youths saw Negro and white children, victims of crippling diseases, playing with one another.

Juvenile Judge Benjamin Schwartz had told them: "These are children who would trade places with you."

At City Hall, the boys heard Mrs. Virginia Coffey, member of the Mayor's Friendly Relations Committee say "It's sometimes not what you do, but the interpretation other people put on it."

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—Bachelor King Baudouin will dance with pretty princesses from all over Europe tonight at Belgium's first Royal Ball in 24 years.

Sources in the Royal Palace denied the 24-year-old monarch's party is actually a marriage mart. The 1958 Brussels World's Fair probably has more to do with it. So far Baudouin hasn't been looking for a queen.

Many of the girls have names that go back to the days when Baudouin's ancestors were stomping around in chain mail, but most of the princesses don't have thrones to go with their titles.

Holland and Sweden are the only two reigning royal houses sending their lovely emissaries to the dance floor. Swedish princesses Brigitta and Desirée and Dutch princesses Beatrix and Irene will be there.

Baudouin is a serious young man who in seven years on the throne has shown no public interest in less girls, royal or otherwise. Even if he decided to pop the question tonight he wouldn't have much privacy since the guest list for this little soiree runs to 6,000, plus scores of subjects still besieging the palace for invites.

Modern Valjean Tale Ends Happily

NEW YORK (AP) — Victor Hugo's hero of "Les Miserables" spent years as a galley slave for stealing a loaf of bread.

Jerry Domokur, 22-year-old Greenwich Village artist, was arrested for stealing six small loaves of bread worth 45 cents from a bakery.

Judge Abraham Gassman threw out the case, terming Domokur "A modern Jean Valjean."

Domokur beamed. He was even happier when the bakery owner, who was in court, said: "Gee, I'm sorry. Can I buy you lunch?"

Walter Moore Jr., 22, received a $100 suspended fine and was placed on a year's probation on a stealing auto parts count.

Melvin Bagwell, 18, owner of the car used in the raid, faced two charges of possessing stolen auto parts. He was fined $200 and costs, with $50 of the fine suspended, and placed on a year's probation on each count, the probation to run consecutively.

Juvenile Aides Try New Tack On Race Issue

CINCINNATI (AP)—Juvenile Court officials decided to try a new tack Friday with a group of Negro and white youngsters involved in a fracas along racial lines at a high school last month.

The court took them on a guided tour, with lectures. The five Negroes and three whites first heard talks by two former college football stars—Bob Judd, who played for Xavier, and Tom Jones, who starred for Miami and is now a court constable.

Jones said: "I'm a Negro. I know some of the things you experience, but there are laws to counteract all situations and the law does not distinguish among colors."

Jones told of playing against Judd, who is white.

He said: "When you're playing the game, you don't really see the man as being colored."

Then came the tour. At children's convalescent home, the youths saw Negro and white children, victims of crippling diseases, playing with one another.

Juvenile Judge Benjamin Schwartz had told them: "These are children who would trade places with you."

At City Hall, the boys heard Mrs. Virginia Coffey, member of the Mayor's Friendly Relations Committee say "It's sometimes not what you do, but the interpretation other people put on it."

Council Sets Monday for Soviet Claims

Reds Say American Nuclear Plane Flights Court Global War

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — U.N. Security Council delegates today prepared for debate on the Soviet Union's charges, denied in Washington, that U.S. bombers were courting global war.

The 11-nation Council will meet Monday on the Soviet request that it study "urgent measures" to prevent flights of American jet bombers armed with nuclear weapons toward Soviet borders.

U.N. observers predicted that the charges probably would end as have similar Communist charges in the past—with overwhelming rejection.

U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge, Council president this month, called Monday's meeting at the request of Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev. Sobolev had sought a Council session today but a U.N. Secretariat poll of Council members showed they preferred Monday, thus gaining time to check with their governments.

SOVIET FOREIGN Minister Andrei Gromyko first made the charges at a Moscow news conference Friday. He said his government knew U.S. planes with nuclear bombs flew over polar regions toward the Soviet Union. Gromyko said nuclear war could result from the "smallest error of an American technician."

White House press secretary James Hagerty labeled Gromyko's statements untrue. The State Department denied, as Gromyko charged, the United States was "conducting provocative flights over the polar regions or in the vicinity of the U.S.S.R."

The department said SAC was engaged only in practice to keep up its deterrent power and would attack only on President Eisenhower's orders.

It did not dispute that U.S. bombers on training exercises sometimes fly toward the Soviet Union but said the Air Force's safeguards to prevent an unauthorized attack are foolproof.

Farmer Gets $2,500 Award from Ex-Boss

BATAVIA (AP) — Russell Edgington, former Felicity farmer, has won a $2,500 award in a suit for malicious prosecution against Dr. Elmer J. Glassmeyer, Cincinnati heart specialist. A common pleas court jury made the award.

Edgington, who sued for $10,000, charged that when he was a tenant on a farm owned by the doctor's wife in 1953, Dr. Glassmeyer filed a charge against him of forgery involving a milk check.

WORLD EVENT — King Baudouin, of Belgium, opens the Brussels World Fair with an earnest prayer that science will be the salvation and not the destruction of men. Immediately after his speech, the King proceeded into the main fairground area and kindled a flame which will burn until the fair closes Oct. 19. More than 30,000,000 people are expected to attend.

Ohio Utilities Ask Rate Hikes

$40 Million a Year Studied by Commission

COLUMBUS (AP)—Utility companies serving Ohio have before the Utilities Commission rate increase applications which, if granted will increase their gross revenues by more than $40 million a year.

That is on top of the $87,568 in increased rates the commission has granted since the year began.

By contrast, the commission granted a total of $1,791,698 in increased rates last year, $860,219 during 1956, $67,145 in 1955.

The commission does not always grant the full amount asked by a utility. But under Ohio law it has to assure a utility of fair and reasonable earnings on the valuation of its property.

Largest rate case pending is that of Ohio Bell Telephone Co. for a $28 million annual increase in revenue. Second largest is the $54 million asked by Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co.

OTHERS OF the more than two score rate increase applications pending include:

Northwestern Telephone Service Co. of Wauseon $171,998, Lima Telephone & Telegraph Co. $531,183, Ohio Midland Light & Power Co. $78,300, Dayton Power & Light Co. (in Dayton) $1,365,396, Dayton Power & Light Co. (unincorporated areas) $313,035.

Middlepoint Telephone Co. in Van Wert County not determined, Continental Telephone Co. of Putnam County $6,352, Van Wert Telephone Co. $62,726 (hearing next Tuesday).

Cash Give-Away Brings Arrest

COLUMBUS (AP)—You can't give money away in Columbus, at least not when you appear to be intoxicated.

Harry J. Martin, 57, who told police he has given away thousands of dollars since he left Honolulu last week, tried it Friday night. He wound up spending the night in city jail "mostly for his own protection," police reported.

Patrolman Edgar Williams found Martin standing at a downtown corner, casually passing out signed travelers checks.

Martin had given away about $200 and had $460 left when Patrolman Williams decided to put a halt to the donations.

Space Advances Told by Scientist

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. scientists are on the threshold of being able to take a remote control look at any spot on the globe, the Navy's research chief says. He agrees it soon may be possible to use the moon as a reconnaissance satellite.

Rear Adm. John T. Hayward acknowledged this Friday at a hearing of the Special House Space Committee.

He refused details other than to say both possibilities result from breakthroughs in electronics development achieved in the last six months at Naval Research Laboratories. If he said anything more, "they'll shoot me," Hayward said.

Hayward did say, however, the breakthroughs would permit monitoring of the world by either sight or sound. He didn't elaborate.

Another witness before the committee was Rear Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, the Navy's nuclear power boss, who counseled against big crash programs for space exploration.

INSTEAD, Rickover advised Congress to keep its feet on the ground in appropriating money for space projects. The outspoken admiral also said the entire defense establishment is too big and costly.

Meantime, the Navy reported spectacular results in the testing of its air-to-surface Bullpup missile.

It said a carrier pilot destroyed a four-inch square target two miles away on his first shot with the 1,300 mile an hour missile.

SPRINGFIELD, Vt. (AP) — Brunette Priscilla "Polly" Whitcomb, who vanished from the Smith College campus for 17 months, says she voluntarily broke off her romance with a handsome parole violator because she could not continue living "a life of false pretenses."

The 20-year-old daughter of U.S. Atty. Louis G. Whitcomb told newsmen she intends to stay home until she makes plans for the future and "these plans do not involve any other individual at the present time."

Richard S. Thatcher, 21, the restaurant counterman for whom Polly left school in November, 1956, was taken from Boston to Northampton, Mass., late Friday to face a charge of unlawfully obtaining an automobile by trick or fraudulent representation.

The charge is based on Thatcher's renting of a car before the pair disappeared. The car was found later in Boston.

Boston police quoted Thatcher as saying he loved the girl and wanted to marry her. He said they had not married though they lived at three addresses in Boston under the names of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kutz.

Thatcher, from Evanston, Ill., was paroled from Colorado State Reformatory in 1955 after serving a sentence for passing a bad check. In the fall of 1956 he obtained a job in a coffee shop across the street from the Smith College campus in Northampton. It was here that he and Polly met.

Congressman Jenkins Gets Extensive Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. George W. Calver, Capitol physician, said Friday Rep. Jenkins (R-Ohio), 77-year-old dean of the Ohio GOP delegation in Congress, may be undergoing extensive checkups at Bethesda Naval Hospital for another week or two.

Jenkins, who was admitted to the hospital several days ago, is reported to be a "little tired."

Four Injured In Pickaway Auto Mishaps

Four persons were slightly injured in three separate auto accidents yesterday and early today in Pickaway County.

Everett H. Funk, 55, of 117 W. High St., suffered an arm laceration when his truck overturned in a ditch about three miles north of Circleville on Old Route 23 at 4:55 p. m. yesterday.

Funk told sheriff's deputies he had a coughing spell, lost control of the vehicle which went into the right hand ditch, crossed the road to the left hand ditch and then returned to the right side of the road where it upset.

Jeanette Ann Rinehart, 21, Route 1, Mt. Sterling, and Dolores Leizure, 17, Route 1, Mt. Sterling, were hurt when their car was forced off Route 62 about 1 1/2 miles north of Mt. Sterling at 10:45 p. m. yesterday.

Miss Rinehart, the driver, told deputies that she was driving south when two cars racing north side by side forced her from the road and into a ditch.

THE TWO AUTOISTS were taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital, where they were examined and released to a physician.

Geraldine Churchens, 23, Amanda, was treated by a physician for a bump on the forehead. Deputy sheriff Robert Hoover reported her car was sideswiped by an auto driven by Robert E. Hardy, 24, Route 2, Williamsport.

The accident was at 12:30 a. m. today about three miles east of Route 56 on the Circleville-Tariton Road.

Boy's Stomach Shifted Around

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Michael Miracle, 23 months old, was rushed to a hospital, critically ill. Tests showed the boy was suffocating. His stomach, swollen with air and fluids, had crowded his left lung until there was little room for air in it. The stomach also had shoved his heart into the right side of the chest, cutting off most air to the right lung.

It took a 1 1/2 hour operation to pull the stomach back down into the abdominal cavity and to remove the swelling in the irritated and kinked small intestine.

Dead Sea Scrolls Labeled Incomplete, but Valuable

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Writer

More than a decade has passed since a Bedouin shepherd stumbled over the first cave hiding place of the Dead Sea Scrolls, the find of the century in Biblical archaeology.

Scholarship and technology have had time to examine many of the 2,000-year-old leather and copper documents and attempt a tentative answer to the absorbing question: Do the scrolls shed any new light on Christianity?

Yes, says Frank Moore Cross Jr., archaeologist and Old Testament scholar and author of the latest book on the scrolls, "The Ancient Library of Qumran."

But it's a qualified yes. Cross is the first to admit his book is incomplete. The scrolls, most scholars agree were not the work of early Christians but of a Jewish sect called Essenes which inhabited the Qumran community shortly before and shortly after the birth of Christ.

The Essenes were an apocalyptic sect—believers in the imminent triumph of righteousness on the ashes of the current evil world—and therein, says Cross, lies the importance of the scrolls.

The primitive Christian church was apocalyptic too. "We would do well, therefore," writes Cross, "if we are to understand (the) motives in her structure and thought, to discover the faith and forms of the apocalyptic communities which preceded Christianity."

As a result of the scrolls, the life and times of a community similar to the early Christian church "can now be investigated seriously for the first time."

Cross notes a common theological language and concept of dualism (light vs. darkness, truth vs. error) running through the scrolls and the New Testament, particularly the Gospel of John.

The major difference, of course, between the Christians and Essenes was Jesus Christ. The Christians had their Messiah; the Essenes were still waiting for theirs—which may explain why Christianity survived the centuries while the Essenes perished.

The Essenes vanished as both a community and a sect during the Jewish revolt against Rome about 68 A.D. when Christianity was turning out to the world.

The former resident spent most of his time in Tripoli. However, his office will be located in the new capital city of Benghazi when he reports back to Libya.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones and their

He attended school after World War II and then was employed by the U. S. State Department as an economist under the Marshall Plan.

HE HAS served in Switzerland, Austria, England and now Libya. His first duty in Libya was as an economic adviser to the government there. His group also included two British advisers.

When he returns to Africa he will be classified as the Economist for the U. S. Aid Mission in Libya.

Yesterday he enjoyed 18 holes of golf at the local country club. Fellow golfers said he turned in a commendable score.

Seceder Quotes From U.S. Law in Defending Position

The government complained Mrs. Cliett had "taken up battle stations with firearms upon the aforesaid land," which she named Eneri, Irene spelled backwards.

Mrs. Cliett answered: "A well-regulated militia, being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed."

Dead Sea Scrolls Labeled Incomplete, but Valuable

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Writer

More than a decade has passed since a Bedouin shepherd stumbled over the first cave hiding place of the Dead Sea Scrolls, the find of the century in Biblical archaeology.

Scholarship and technology have had time to examine many of the 2,000-year-old leather and copper documents and attempt a tentative answer to the absorbing question: Do the scrolls shed any new light on Christianity?

Yes, says Frank Moore Cross Jr., archaeologist and Old Testament scholar and author of the latest book on the scrolls, "The Ancient Library of Qumran."

But it's a qualified yes. Cross is the first to admit his book is incomplete.

The scrolls, most scholars agree were not the work of early Christians.

RUSSIA CAN'T GARBLE THIS MESSAGE

Behind the iron curtain is a powerful transmitter which tries to garble the messages which come from the free world.

We like to think that no one can garble the prayer of a little child to his God. But sometimes, right here in a free Christian land, we jam the wave-lengths of faith with examples of doubt and indifference. Even parents occasionally stifle the spiritual yearnings of their own children!

One of our freedoms is FREEDOM OF WORSHIP. In the sight of God, and before the eyes of a growing generation of free Americans, what shall we do with this freedom?

There has never been a day when Christian sincerity in the community, Christian example in the family, and Christian devotion in the individual were more essential for the preservation of our spiritual heritage to another generation!

Come to Church—join the Church—support the Church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

RUSSIA CAN'T GARBLE THIS MESSAGE

Behind the iron curtain is a powerful transmitter which tries to garble the messages which come from the free world.

We like to think that no one can garble the prayer of a little child to his God. But sometimes, right here in a free Christian land, we jam the wave-lengths of faith with examples of doubt and indifference. Even parents occasionally stifle the spiritual yearnings of their own children!

One of our freedoms is FREEDOM OF WORSHIP. In the sight of God, and before the eyes of a growing generation of free Americans, what shall we do with this freedom?

There has never been a day when Christian sincerity in the community, Christian example in the family, and Christian devotion in the individual were more essential for the preservation of our spiritual heritage to another generation!

Come to Church—join the Church—support the Church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Import-Export Brings Debate

With the debate in Congress yet to come on the subject of foreign imports, their impact on American industries, and what tariff barriers should be erected to protect employment in this country, the interim has provided an excellent opportunity for both proponents and opponents of the reciprocal trade program to gather ammunition for the coming cannonade.

One nation certain to be a prime target of those who advocate reduction in imports is Japan. Due in large part to much lower wage scales, goods made in Japan have long undersold comparable American products in American markets.

Of total purchases abroad for resale in the United States, 98 per cent of the cultured pearls, 51 per cent of handbags, 22 per cent of decorative chinaware and 16 per cent of filament light bulbs are bought in Japan. In addition, large quantities of textiles, cameras and toys are imported from that country.

It is difficult for the average American who has not traveled abroad to understand the wide differences in manufacturing costs between two countries with such diverse living standards as the United States and Japan. A survey by the Japan External Trade Recovery Organization which lists the large markups American importers, wholesalers and retailers place on Japanese products—which still manage to undersell competitive lines—throws some interesting light on relative costs.

Wallpaper and sun glasses imported from Japan have been increased 700 per cent from the price paid by the importer to the cost to the American consumer, phonograph needles 450 per cent, electric irons 200 per cent, silk scarves 250 per cent and surveying equipment 170 per cent. Of more than 200 products analyzed in the survey, the average markup was between 160 and 230 per cent.

On the plus side of the picture, Japan is the largest foreign buyer of American products, with the exception of Canada, and her imports from the United States total nearly three times the value of Japanese exports to this country.

What the lawmakers must decide is whether it is justifiable to allow certain American industries to suffer the disadvantage of competing with low cost foreign manufacturing processes on the American market in return for an overall favorable trade balance.

The Meaning of Reorganization

By George Sokolsky

It is natural in American life for us to have a prolonged and profound quarrel over the military at just such a time as this. The United States is a civilian country. Americans dislike war. Military men, in peace time, do not go about the country strutting uniforms; the top generals, as like as not, are to be seen travelling about in mufti, as it used to be called, namely, the street dress of a small businessman.

However, comes a war, and that red-tape bound military force grows in size, efficiency and character. Ours is, after all, a citizens' Army. Navy and Air Force with a very smart hard core of professionals, who form the frame of an accoutrements-like military. With such a force, we have generally won our wars, which were against the British, the Mexicans, the Indians and various Latin American countries whom we were protecting against themselves, as we strictly believed.

Then came World War I, and we were involved in something very new for us, actual fighting in Europe in alliance with other countries. We adjusted with difficulty to World War I. Herbert Hoover's new book on Woodrow Wilson shows how very difficult it was to adjust to the concept of fighting by means of an alliance. Our people were wholly unprepared for it.

In World War II, the Allies acted as one force and the direction of all forces was concentrated. The bickering was, at times, ferocious. General Eisenhower's value during World War II was not that he possessed any military genius; that was not expected of him. Rather, his genius lay in his ability to get irreconcilable men of many nationalities to work together against a common foe. In this psychological effort, he was remarkably successful, particularly in winning over the British who tended to regard some of our officers as second rate.

The present quarrel over reorganization is a permanent quarrel in our military forces and in Congress. I recall discussing it way back with James Forrestal. Traditionally, our Army and Navy have been separate services, each with its own traditions and habits; each purchasing its own supplies; each staffed by officers, independent of every other service.

Then came air. The Army had an air Army; the Navy had an air Navy; even the Marine Corps had an air Marine Corps. However, it became necessary to organize a separate air branch for efficiency of military operations. This was done and a new competitive element entered the military picture.

As a result of the various squabbles, the Department of Defense was organized on the theory that a unified administrative service could be established. Economies were to be affected by establishing a unified standard inventory. Nothing like that happened. If anything, the Departments are now more competitive than they have ever been, each fighting for its little empire and for its place in the budget.

Everybody agrees that there should be unification. So, the Joint Chiefs of Staff were organized, the theory being that if they sat together and worked together, they would ultimately forget the services from which they originated and that they would ipso facto become unified. This did not happen. Instead, the tendency has been for each department to stand on its own and even forming groups within each department to fight for some special appropriation for special work.

Then came the Sputnik. Suddenly, the country became conscious of the fact that we are falling behind the Russians. Each service that had heretofore been claiming itself as the top service in the world, suddenly admitted defeat. That not only hurt American pride but frightened our people. They wondered what could have happened to all the billions of dollars that we had spent on all our preparations for war.

Many plans for unification have since appeared. But there was no plan that satisfied everybody, except that there is no valid support for the maintenance of the status quo. The demand of change appeared on all sides. Army men and many civilians fear the Prussian chief-of-staff type of organization, but that a form of unity of planning and unity of authority is necessary, all agree. And the likelihood is that some such plan will be evolved on the floor of Congress by prolonged debate, but it is certain that we shall have an effective defense force.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THE MINISTER had come for Sunday dinner and 6-year-old Susan Mae was dressed up in her very best for the occasion. All went well until the minister asked Susan Mae what she wanted to be when she grew up. "A dog," she announced. Susan Mae's mother yanked her out of the room, gave her a piece of what-for, and marched her back to the minister's side.

"Susan Mae is ready to give you a sensible answer now," she reported. "That's splendid," said the minister. "What is it you really want to be when you grow up?" he coaxed. Susan Mae glared at her mother and declared, "A pony."

The father of the new president of Indivisible Motors was discovered in a corner by a reporter at a gala party. "Tell me about your son Ferris," asked the scribe. "Has his successful business career surprised you?"

"Not at all," said the father. "I knew from the start he'd be a big wheel. That's why I named him Ferris."

Let Children Grow Slowly

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Let your children have a childhood. Don't be too anxious to have them be little ladies and little gentlemen.

The natural desire for parents to be proud of their youngsters, to have them "better" than the neighbor's kids, might deprive these children of something they can never regain—their childhood.

Judging an infant's growth, progress, under the competitive standards many parents use, often forces him to grow up too quickly.

This forced growth—a hurry up and get bigger and better attitude—sometimes begins in early infancy when a mother forces a baby to eat more than he needs.

Many parents, unfortunately, compare the child to an average, if there is such a thing, and are guided by this in comparing his growth and behavior. They become worried when their youngster does not compare favorably with their concept of the ideal.

In some cases, it actually is the parent's own problems which cause difficulties. They try to compensate for dissatisfactions in their own lives through the success of their children.

Thus, they demand perfection from their children and attempt to hurry the youngster's growth to achieve it.

A small child wants to do what he wants when he wants to do it. While parents should guide their children in reaching decisions, it is necessary for the youngsters to do things for themselves and to make their own decisions.

Now, I don't mean that you should permit your child to do anything he desires. He must learn that he has to live with other people and respect their wishes.

Other children are great teachers of property and personal rights. And your youngster will learn social values at his own level while playing with children around his own age.

While play is fun for the youngster, it also is a serious part of his emotional development. And it gives him a chance to discover the things he can do best and what activities bring him the most satisfaction. Typical childhood activities are an essential part of his life.

Question and Answer
B. M.: I am about 50 pounds overweight and am bothered with perspiring feet. Can you recommend anything to stop this?

Answer: Usually excessive perspiration of the feet is more common in those who are overweight. This overweight also puts added strain on the feet.

Various preparations are on the market to reduce perspiration of the feet, but the wisest course would be to reduce under a physician's directions. This would probably help your difficulty.

Comedian Discusses Quality Needed To Make Folks Laugh

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—"You can make anybody laugh within a minute," said comedian Sid Gould. "The only thing that prevents them from laughing is the determination to win some money."

That's the simple idea behind "Make Me Laugh" (ABC-TV, Thursday, 10 p.m. EST), which was the target of some unkind remarks from this quarter when it made its debut four weeks ago.

"I agree with Sid," said comedian Louis Nye. "A minute is enough time to make a person laugh."

"I don't believe it," I said. "That's why I challenged you guys to come down to the bullpen and give you each a minute to make me laugh."

They stared thoughtfully. Gould has sad dark eyes and a mobile face. Nye has bright blue eyes and a deadpan expression.

"You're easy," Gould said. "We've been talking about five minutes and you've laughed five times."

"I have not." "You have too," Nye said. "It was a sort of grin, but you won't print that because it'll make you sound like a grinning fool."

"A laugh is any time you show your teeth," said Gould.

"Mmm-mmm," I replied through tight lips. "Go ahead."

"No rush," said Gould. "Why don't you ask us some questions first, like is it easier to make men or women laugh?"

"Okay," I slumped lower in my chair, "which is easier?"

"They're both the same," said Gould.

"Both the same," echoed Nye. I slumped even lower and waved a hand wearily.

"Want to begin?" asked Nye.

"Go ahead."

Leaping to his feet, he sprang to my side, rested a hand on my shoulder, faced an imaginary audience, and began a staccato German speech. My imagination rioted. He was the Nazi functionary and I the lolling, weary dictator. I laughed.

"I told you," said Gould. "You are easy."

"Maybe for him. Not for you. Go ahead."

His face seemed to squish like foam rubber, his eyes expressed an extraordinary sadness, and he lisped about an imaginary Roy Smick. I wanted to laugh, but I didn't.

His expression changed, he thrust his face close to mine and said, "Charles, you'll never know what lonesome is till you get to herding cows."

I laughed. Shrugging and spreading his hands eloquently, he sat back and studied me morosely.

"Look here," I said in some alarm, "that's not a funny line. Reduce that to print and say that I laughed at it and I'll sound like a terrible idiot."

"Well?" asked Sid Gould.

Assault Charges Dropped Against Pair

Thursday, Fitch filed a $5,000 damage suit against each youth.

They wondered what could have happened to all the billions of dollars that we had spent on all our preparations for war.

Many plans for unification have since appeared. But there was no plan that satisfied everybody, except that there is no valid support for the maintenance of the status quo. The demand of change appeared on all sides. Army men and many civilians fear the Prussian chief-of-staff type of organization, but that a form of unity of planning and unity of authority is necessary, all agree. And the likelihood is that some such plan will be evolved on the floor of Congress by prolonged debate, but it is certain that we shall have an effective defense force.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THE MINISTER had come for Sunday dinner and 6-year-old Susan Mae was dressed up in her very best for the occasion. All went well until the minister asked Susan Mae what she wanted to be when she grew up. "A dog," she announced. Susan Mae's mother yanked her out of the room, gave her a piece of what-for, and marched her back to the minister's side. "Susan Mae is ready to give you a sensible answer now," she reported.

"That's splendid," said the minister. "What is it you really want to be when you grow up?" he coaxed. Susan Mae glared at her mother and declared, "A pony."

The father of the new president of Indivisible Motors was discovered in a corner by a reporter at a gala party. "Tell me about your son, Ferris," asked the scribe. "Has his successful business career surprised you?"

"Not at all," said the father. "I knew from the start he'd be a big wheel. That's why I named him Ferris."

Let Children Grow Slowly

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Let your children have a childhood. Don't be too anxious to have them be little ladies and little gentlemen.

The natural desire for parents to be proud of their youngsters, to have them "better" than the neighbor's kids, might deprive these children of something they can never regain—their childhood.

Judging an infant's growth, his progress, under the competitive standards many parents use, often forces him to grow up too quickly.

This forced growth—a hurry up and get bigger and better attitude—sometimes begins in early infancy when a mother forces a baby to eat more than he needs.

Many parents, unfortunately, compare the child to an average, if there is such a thing, and are guided by this in comparing his growth and behavior. They become worried when their youngster does not compare favorably with their concept of the ideal.

In some cases, it actually is the parent's own problems which cause difficulties. They try to compensate for dissatisfactions in their own lives through the success of their children.

Thus, they demand perfection from their children and attempt to hurry the youngster's growth to achieve it.

A small child wants to do what he wants when he wants to do it. While parents should guide their children in reaching decisions, it is necessary for the youngsters to do things for themselves and to make their own decisions.

Now, I don't mean that you should permit your child to do anything he desires. He must learn that he has to live with other people and respect their wishes.

Other children are great teachers of property and personal rights. And your youngster will learn social values at his own level while playing with children around his own age.

While play is fun for the youngster, it also is a serious part of his

New Incorporations Running Below 1957

NEW YORK (AP)—New business incorporations in March rose seasonally from February, but remained below those of a year ago for the sixth consecutive month, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., reports. The number of new concerns chartered in March was 71,670, up 11.5 per cent from February's 10,466, and down 3.2 per cent from the March 1957 figure for 12,049. The total for the first three months of the year was 35,216, off 2.8 per cent from the year ago total of 36,227.

Question and Answer
B. M.: I am about 50 pounds overweight and am bothered with perspiring feet. Can you recommend anything to stop this?

Answer: Usually excessive perspiration of the feet is more common in those who are overweight. This overweight also puts added strain on the feet.

Various preparations are on the market to reduce perspiration of the feet, but the wisest course would be to reduce under a physician's directions. This would probably help your difficulty.

Comedian Discusses Quality Needed To Make Folks Laugh

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—"You can make anybody laugh within a minute," said comedian Sid Gould. "The only thing that prevents them from laughing is the determination to win some money."

That's the simple idea behind "Make Me Laugh" (ABC-TV, Thursday, 10 p.m. EST), which was the target of some unkind remarks from this quarter when it made its debut four weeks ago.

"I agree with Sid," said comedian Louis Nye. "A minute is enough time to make a person laugh."

"I don't believe it," I said. "That's why I challenged you guys to come down to the bullpen and give you each a minute to make me laugh."

They stared thoughtfully. Gould has sad dark eyes and a mobile face. Nye has bright blue eyes and a deadpan expression.

"You're easy," Gould said. "We've been talking about five minutes and you've laughed five times."

"I have not," Nye said. "It was a sort of grin, but you won't print that because it'll make you sound like a grinning fool."

"A laugh is any time you show your teeth," said Gould. "Mmm-mmm," I replied through tight lips. "Go ahead."

"No rush," said Gould. "Why don't you ask us some questions first, like it is easier to make men or women laugh?"

"Okay," I slumped lower in my chair, "which is easier?"

"They're both the same," said Gould.

"Both the same," echoed Nye. I slumped even lower and waved a hand wearily.

"Want to begin?" asked Nye. "Go ahead."

Leaping to his feet, he sprang to my side, rested a hand on my shoulder, faced an imaginary audience, and began a staccato German speech. My imagination rioted. He was the Nazi functionary and I the lolling, weary dictator.

I laughed. "I told you," said Gould. "You are easy."

"Maybe for him. Not for you. Go ahead."

His face seemed to squish like foam rubber, his eyes expressed an extraordinary sadness, and he lisped about an imaginary Roy Smick. I wanted to laugh, but I didn't.

His expression changed, he thrust his face close to mine and said, "Charles, you'll never know what lonesome is till you get to herding cows."

I laughed. Shrugging and spreading his hands eloquently, he sat back and studied me morosely.

"Look here," I said in some alarm, "that's not a funny line. Reduce that to print and say that I laughed at it and I'll sound like a terrible idiot."

"Well?" asked Sid Gould.

Assault Charges Dropped Against Pair

NEWARK (AP)—Assault charges against two Denison University students accused of beating Ernest R. Fitch of Granville have been dropped at the request of James Gordon, Fitch's attorney.

The students, William C. Taylor, 19, and Robert G. Gieringer, 18, both of Dayton, had been scheduled to go on trial in Municipal Court here. They had pleaded innocent to the charges.

Thursday, Fitch filed a $5,000 damage suit against each youth.

'Spring In the Valley' Presented by Mrs. Boecher

"Spring In the Valley" was the program enjoyed by the members of the Circleville Garden Club which met at the home of Mrs. Leslie Pontius. Mrs. Harold Boecher of Chillicothe presented Kodachrome slides depicting the many early signs of spring as found in surrounding woods and along country roads.

Beautiful scenes taken in the Hocking Hills showed snow still hanging on in protected spot while overhead wild ducks were flying northward. Half hidden among the brown leaves of the woods blooms of snowy trillium, hepatica and trout lily proclaim spring. The trees on the hills display all shades of green as new leaves begin to show.

Herb Score Looks Sharp In Comeback

Old Snapping Fast Ball Beats Detroit 7-5; Yanks Trip Baltimore

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Herb Score, Cleveland's courageous young pitcher, now has passed the third barrier in his comeback bid, overcoming poor fielding support and his own wildness to win his first game with the crackling fastball and curve that have made him baseball's most consistent strikeout sensation.

The 24-year-old lefty, who first battled to retain sight in his left eye after last May's dreadful accident, then returned to face a batter again, gained his first complete game yesterday with a five-hit, eight-strikeout job that beat Detroit 7-5.

The victory pushed Cleveland into a four-way share of the third in the American League. The New York Yankees took first, handing Baltimore its first defeat 3-1 on Whitey Ford's five-hitter. The supposed weak-hitting Chicago White Sox cracked four home runs and beat Kansas City 11-7 in the only other A.L. game scheduled.

Score, struck by Yankee Gil McDougald's linedrive last May 7, pushed his strikeout total to 560 for 524 innings and blanked the Tigers after the Indians committed three of their four errors on one play in the sixth.

Ford, in his '58 debut, gave up the Orioles' run on three singles in the first. Jerry Lumpe's fly ball and Bobby Richardson's single scored Mickey Mantle and Bill Skowron, in a deciding sixth against Billy Loes.

Jim Landis, Ron Jackson, Luis Aparicio and Bubba Phillips hit the White Sox homers, good for seven runs.

The decision is still out on the Los Angeles Coliseum's screen test.

Some college kids cleared the 42-foot high, 140-foot long barrier in left field with ease a couple of weeks ago, and the Los Angeles Dodgers and San Francisco Giants put 32 shots over it in batting practice yesterday.

But of the three homers hit in actual combat, only one got lost behind the screen. And, ironically, the screen checked what would have been a home run in either the Polo Grounds or Ebbets Field and saved a 6-5 decision for the Dodgers in their home debut.

Rookie Jim Davenport's third hit (he's 10-for-19) went for only a double off the screen in a ninth-inning Giants' rally that fell short of a tie when Davenport missed third while racing for home on rookie Willie Kirkland's triple.

While you could argue either way about the screen at the Coliseum, where a crowd of 78,672 set a major league record for a regular season single game, there were no questions about two shots that won for Cincinnati and Milwaukee.

Rookie Vada Pinson's first home run was a grand-slammer that ran was a grand-slammer that gave the Redlegs a 4-1 victory at Pittsburgh. And Johnny Logan belted a bases-loaded job off Jack Sanford, the National League's top '57 rookie, for a 4-2 Milwaukee decision over Philadelphia Friday night. The unbeaten Chicago Cubs rapped winless St. Louis again 11-6.

DeMolay Cage Five In State Tourney

The Circleville DeMolay basketball team left last night for Vandalia to compete in the DeMolay State Finals.

The local cagers will be eyeing the state crown after sweeping all opposition in the Columbus District earlier in the season.

The Bill Ankrom coached cagers were scheduled to play their first game this morning. They were to meet the winner of last night's Columbus-Dayton game.

Derby Golf Entries Closely Bunched

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — A real horse race finish loomed today for the Kentucky Derby Open golf tournament, with more than a score of swingers challenging.

On the inside track, tied for the lead with 10-under-par 134s, were Paul Hamey, an old hand at tourney play, and newcomers Tony Lema and Bill Collins.

Behind them, the field was bunched heads apart. At the halfway mark of the 72-hole playoff, just six strokes separated the first 22 golfers. There was no strong favorite going into today's third 18-hole round.

Akron Team Cops 4-Mile Relay Test

MANSFIELD — Four Akron North High School juniors won the opening and only event of the 27th annual Mansfield Relays Friday, winning the four-mile relay in a record 18:49.2.

The quartet shattered the previous mark of 18:57 set in 1956 by Mount Lebanon, Pa.

This year's Mount Lebanon team finished third behind Flint (Mich.) Central, Birmingham, Mich., was fourth in the event and Cleveland Rhodes fifth. Thirty-one teams took part in the race, which was run in two heats.

Birdie Proud Of Rookie's Fine Showing

PITTSBURGH — "His talent overcomes his youth." That was what happy Birdie Tebbets, manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs, said Friday as he gave rookie Vada Pinson a verbal pat on the back.

Tebbetts was the first to congratulate his 19-year-old Negro outfielder after Pinson smashed a grand slam homer in the third inning off righthander Ronnie Kline to give the Redlegs a 4-1 victory over Pittsburgh.

"I don't know whether Kline threw me a slider or a curve," Pinson said. "All I know is it was the first home run I ever hit in the majors and it was the first grand slam homer I ever hit." Beyond Pinson's big homer, there was little action at the plate for the Reds, who wound up with four hits.

The stage was set for the big clout by two walks and two errors. Roy McMillan drew the first walk and pitcher Bob Purkey followed with a punt that Pirate third-sacker Frank Thomas threw wild to second. That was enough to send McMillan scamparing to third.

Another bad throw, by outfielder Bill Virdon, allowed Purkey to reach second. Another walk to Johnny Temple filled the bases.

But after that rally, the Reds got better balance than we did last year

Chicago Cubs Look Great In 3rd Win

CHICAGO — "That's one more we don't have to worry about," sighed Bob Scheffing Friday after his new-look Chicago Cubs made it three straight over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Scheffing's tone and the general attitude of the undefeated Cubs, picked to finish last in the National League race, were matter of fact following an 11-6 shellacking of the Cardinals.

"I'm pleased but not surprised," said Scheffing. "We've been looking good all along. We have better balance than we did last year and we piled up a good record against some good pitching in spring training games."

Asked about the Cardinals, who were named solid pennant contenders, Scheffing replied:

"I'd say we're ahead of those teams that trained in Florida. They had a lot of rainouts and we and the other Arizona teams got a lot more work. There are a lot of factors in our quick start but two of them are rookies John Goryl and Tony Taylor. They've just been great."

Both Taylor, who was shifted from third to second base, and Goryl, the new third baseman, have been instrumental in Chicago's early success. Aside from their brilliant defensive play, both have contributed timely hitting.

Herb Score Looks Sharp In Comeback

Old Snapping Fast Ball Beats Detroit 7-5; Yanks Trip Baltimore

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Herb Score, Cleveland's courageous young pitcher, now has passed the third barrier in his comeback bid, overcoming poor fielding support and his own wildness to win his first game with the crackling fastball and curve that have made him baseball's most consistent strikeout sensation.

The 24-year-old lefty, who first battled to retain sight in his left eye after last May's dreadful accident, then returned to face a batter again, gained his first complete game yesterday with a five-hit, eight-strikeout job that beat Detroit 7-5.

The victory pushed Cleveland into a four-way share of third in the American League. The New York Yankees took first, handing Baltimore its first defeat 3-1 on Whitey Ford's five-hitter. The supposed weak-hitting Chicago White Sox cracked four home runs and beat Kansas City 11-7 in the only other AL game scheduled.

Score, struck by Yankee Gil McDougald's linedrive last May 7, pushed his strikeout total to 560 for 524 innings and blanked the Tigers after the Indians committed three of their four errors on one play in the sixth.

Ford, in his '58 debut, gave up the Orioles' run on three singles in the first. Jerry Lumpe's fly ball and Bobby Richardson's single scored Mickey Mantle and Bill Skowron, in a deciding sixth against Billy Loes.

Jim Landis, Ron Jackson, Luis Aparicio and Bubba Phillips hit the White Sox homers, good for seven runs.

The decision is still out on the Los Angeles Coliseum's screen test.

Some college kids cleared the 42-foot high, 140-foot long barrier in left field with ease a couple of weeks ago, and the Los Angeles Dodgers and San Francisco Giants put 32 shots over it in batting practice yesterday.

But of the three homers hit in actual combat, only one got lost behind the screen. And, ironically, the screen checked what would have been a home run in either the Polo Grounds or Ebbets Field and saved a 6-5 decision for the Dodgers in their home debut.

Rookie Jim Davenport's third hit (he's 10-for-19) went for only a double off the screen in a ninth-inning Giants' rally that fell short of a tie when Davenport missed third while racing for home on rookie Willie Kirkland's triple.

While you could argue either way about the screen at the Coliseum, where a crowd of 78,672 set a major league record for a regular season single game, there were no questions about two shots that won for Cincinnati and Milwaukee.

Rookie Vada Pinson's first home run was a grand-slammer that ran was a grand-slammer that gave the Redlegs a 4-1 victory at Pittsburgh. And Johnny Logan belted a bases-loaded job off Jack Sanford, the National League's top '57 rookie, for a 4-2 Milwaukee decision over Philadelphia Friday night. The unbeaten Chicago Cubs rapped winless St. Louis again 11-6.

DeMolay Cage Five In State Tourney

The Circleville DeMolay basketball team left last night for Vandalia to compete in the DeMolay State Finals.

The local cagers will be eyeing the state crown after sweeping all opposition in the Columbus District earlier in the season.

The Bill Ankrom coached cagers were scheduled to play their first game this morning. They were to meet the winner of last night's Columbus-Dayton game.

Garden Keeps Kids Happy and Interested

When the junior cowboy in your family tires of chasing imaginary Indians, why not introduce him to a more tangible adventure, that of gardening?

Bring him down to earth by teaching him the intriguing mysteries and rewarding realities of the everyday world in which he lives.

In order to stimulate and hold a youngster's interest in his first garden, there're several things to keep in mind.

He won't be too excited about this new adventure if he hears the word "work" connected with it, so stress the fun and pleasure he'll enjoy in his gardening efforts and let him know that you're just as interested in his new project as he is.

KEEP the garden pint-size for a young beginner so he'll be able to handle it himself. If it's too big, chances are he'll get bored with it.

A plot about six feet by nine feet is just about right for beginners. Youngsters are short on patience and want quick results, so help him select seeds of flowers and vegetables that require a minimum of care and grow the fastest.

Children of all ages are attracted by color, so start him out with some flowers in his garden. Among the hardy annuals he'll enjoy planting and growing are margolds, zinnias, bachelor buttons, nasturtiums and morning glories.

In the vegetable group, lettuce, radishes, cucumbers, tomatoes and beans are easy to grow.

It's a good idea to encourage him to plant both flowers and vegetables in his first garden. For it's in his first impressions of the perfect form and delightful color and scent of flowers that a youngster learns to appreciate the delicate beauty in a garden.

These vitamin and mineral-rich vegetables will assume a new importance for your youngster when they appear on the family dinner table.

START this horticultural pursuit by sitting down with the potential gardener and working out a plan of action.

Sharing this experience with him from beginning to end will prove to be as rewarding for as it is for him.

After you've talked over and selected the seeds he'll want to plant, explain the gardening details that go into planting a successful garden. Create in your youngster's mind a sense of responsibility for his garden and see that he sticks to it. His pride in his results will justify all his (and your) efforts.

Heavy Schedule For Gardeners

Garden minded persons have a heavy schedule ahead if they want to take advantage of the many flower shows and meetings that are being planned for the next two months.

Today and Sunday the Dayton Council of Garden Club of Ohio is having its annual spring show at Dayton Memorial Hall. This is an event outstanding in the flower show world. Always a large show, it is known for its beautiful staging.

The spring meeting of the Ohio Council of Nationally Accredited Amateur Judges will be held at the Halle Bros. downtown store in Cleveland. Registration will begin at 10 a. m. Election of officers will be held during the morning session and Myra J. Brooks, author and flower arrangement demonstrator, will be the afternoon speaker.

On May 1 at Shade's Restaurant, Canal Winchester, the Columbus Council, Garden Club of Ohio, will have the opportunity to hear Mrs. William H. Barton, national chairman of National Council Flower Shows Schools, Luncheon will be served at noon.

Have a Nature Question? Just Ask Floyd Bartley

By MRS. ELIZABETH JONES
Herald Garden Editor

If his friends had it their way, Floyd Bartley, Route 4, Circleville, would not be in Pickaway County on Sunday evenings. No sir! He'd be in a certain isolation booth on the $64,000 Question TV program.

This well known local naturalist has answered more nature questions for more people than there are stars in the sky.

And his Pickaway County acquaintances are certain that this amazingly informed man who styles himself as a "nature crank" could answer any question that comes his way.

His category? The whole outdoors! Bartley has collected specimens from all over the United States but Ohio is his real laboratory. He not only knows Ohio wild flowers but also birds, insects, beetles, reptiles, grasses, weeds, mosses, fish and animals of the woods.

Bartley, a slightly built, ruddy-cheeked farmer with keen blue eyes that never miss a detail has been a lover of nature ever since he was a kid. He recalls that as soon as school was out he and his sister would rush home, grab a couple of slices of jelly bread and head for the woods.

As a youngster he felt a certain frustration when he could not identify plants that he found in the woods. And he made up his mind that he was going to learn all about such things.

His father encouraged his boys in their love of nature. Bartley remembers many times when his Dad would mark a bird's nest in the field by a stick in the ground and then caution his sons, "Plover around that stick. There's a bird's nest there!"

AFRICAN VIOLET FANCIER — Mrs. George Steeley works the year around caring for her 150 plants. She finds the work a pleasant chore and frequently shares her new plants with friends.

African Violets Keep Fanciers Busy All Year

Most people take a vacation from garden chores during the winter, but not Mrs. George Steeley, 452 E. Main St. or Mrs. C. P. Heiskell, 711 N. Court St., both of whom are ardent African violet fanciers.

Both have hundreds of African violet plants gracing their window sills from cellar to second floor bedrooms. Both women are veterans at raising and propagating plants and both think success comes from the fact that they really love the chore of caring for their plants.

Mrs. Steeley has gardened all her life. Her gardening projects have always included a vegetable garden, a flower garden, a strawberry patch and indoor plants. This year, however, she decided to give up her strawberries and vegetable garden. "Just too much work for one person", she admitted.

Garden club members have frequently been accused of being so busy "running around to garden club meetings" that they have no time to spend in their gardens. This is not true of Mrs. Steeley, a charter member of Pickaway Garden Club.

ON MARCH 20th (Garden Club night) Mrs. Steeley was too tired to go to the meeting. She had been outdoors all day working in her flower border.

Mrs. Steeley has been raising African violets for almost 10 years. Mrs. Heiskell was instrumental in starting her out on her first venture. Mrs. Steeley loves to propagate plants which she gives to her friends. She simply puts a leaf in a pot of equal parts garden soil, sand and peat moss. In six or seven months she has a small plant.

She has known plants to start in as short a time as six weeks. But that is unusual, she says.

Mrs. Steeley's sun porch is an ideal place for her violets. But she has plants in her kitchen, dining room and bedroom.

According to Mrs. Steeley, African violets bloom almost all year except in very hot weather when they have their resting period.

This winter, however, her healthy looking plants did not bloom. She almost was ready to believe that she had "given her luck away". She explained that there is an old superstition among flower people to the effect that if one is too generous with plants "he gives his luck away."

MRS. Steeley gave her sister enough plants to fill three windows of her home. Each plant has looked like a lovely bouquet all winter. And Mrs. Steeley, whose own plants were not blooming, began to have an uneasy feeling that the old superstition was true after all.

Then a neighbor suggested that she push back her daron glass curtains which covered her sun-porch windows. In a week's time buds started to form on all the plants. Now she is quite sure she did not give her luck away, but she is not certain the daron curtains were to blame. "Maybe it was just time for them to form buds anyway", she said eyeing some of her 150 plants.

Mrs. Steeley never has had trouble with African violet diseases. She cares for her plants, daily watering the small ones each morning and the large pots every other day.

She does not have a favorite. She loves them all. But she thinks that "Orchid Queen" gets more compliments than any other variety she has.

Mrs. Heiskell has about 175 plants. The young plants are in the basement windows. When they reach a certain age Mrs. Heiskell brings them upstairs. She has a theory that small plants should not bloom too profusely. When she brings them upstairs where there is more light, they start forming buds within a couple of weeks.

Mrs. Heiskell's violets are in upstairs windows and all over the downstairs. She is planning to make her glassed-in back porch a sort of African violet conservatory this year.

Mrs. Heiskell labels all her plants. She has 40 varieties acquired during her 20 years as a violet fancier. She has pink, white, double and single violets as well as plants with variegated leaves and scalloped foliage.

Her favorite is Orchid Beauty. Others that she particularly likes are White Queen, Oak Leaf, White Lady, Peach Glow and Red King. Mrs. Heiskell says that "Peach Glow" is always in bloom.

She finds it interesting to propagate violets by leaf planting. Since it takes at least six months for the leaf to take root, if there is a new variety she really wants she buys a plant. She just cannot wait all those months for it to grow.

MRS. Heiskell loves to give plants to her friends. That is really why she propagates them. "Give your luck away? My luck would have been gone many years ago if that were true", she laughed.

Mrs. Heiskell insists that violets know whether or not you love them. "Why I talk to mine" she smilingly admitted. "That's why they grow for me."

"And of course", she added, "I work every day with them, repotting, watering or turning a plant towards the light so it will not be one-sided."

She keeps a sharp lookout for disease. She uses an African violet spray which she buys at the dime store whenever a plant looks sick.

Mrs. Heiskell displays violets at shows every now and then. While she likes to win ribbons, she feels it's hard on the plant to be carried around and jostled. And she only makes a showing when she has several of the same variety.

Legumes Need Inoculation With Bacteria

Legumes which increase fertility of the soil are valuable cover crops. These include soybeans, alfalfa, the clovers and the vetches. Actually these legumes increase the nitrogen content of the soil through the aid of nitrogen fixing bacteria.

These highly specialized bacteria, which have the ability to take nitrogen from the air, are minute rod-shaped bodies which are found in the soil under certain favorable conditions.

When these bacteria come into contact with roots of certain legumes they enter the root hairs, causing a slight irritation. This results in the growth of a tiny round ball called a nodule.

The bacteria take nitrogen from the air and supply it to the plant. The plant in return furnishes the bacteria with food matter to the bacteria which enables them to multiply rapidly. This relation is called symbiosis.

THERE is slight difference in the forms of bacteria which are found on different types of legumes, one form living on one group and additional ones living on certain other types.

Some legumes like alfalfa are very dependent on nitrogen fixing bacteria. Others, such as soybeans, will make reasonable growth in soil where bacteria is not present.

In order to secure the presence of these nitrogen fixing bacteria, all legume crops should be inoculated previous to planting with an especially prepared inoculant carrying the type of bacteria needed for the particular legume which is to be grown.

Ornamental legumes such as sweet peas and lupines also should be inoculated. Few gardeners in Pickaway County have had outstanding luck with lupines.

Lupines need a slightly acid soil, cool nights and an inoculant. They are well worth the trying for their beautiful stately spikes.

Pickaway County farmers practice legume inoculation religiously. Try it on your ornamentals.

Coffee Grounds Good for Azaleas Writer Explains

Heinrich Rohrbach, writer for Horticulture Magazine, is saddened by the thought that in millions of American homes and restaurants coffee grounds are thrown away.

According to this writer who has made extensive experiments in using coffee grounds as humus, many acid loving plants will benefit from the use of this medium.

These plants include azaleas, rhododendrons, clethra, heather, heath, sourwood, mountain laurel, holly and lady slippers.

In our gardens and parks, azaleas and rhododendrons do not have a natural layer of pine needles and leaves from the oak and hickory the way they do when growing in the woods.

THEY are deprived of the mulch which would keep them from winter thawing and give them moisture in the summer.

Many acid loving plants, says Rohrbach, live in close association with tiny fungus mycorrhiza with each genus having its specific type of fungus. The fungi demand a moist soil that does not fluctuate in moisture or temperature.

Rohrbach claims that coffee grounds even beat peatmoss which he says will blow away if spread on the ground while dry. Coffee grounds are brown like peatmoss and are so fine in texture that they spread more easily.

After years of experimentation, Rohrbach says he has learned that coffee grounds seem to have the right amount of acidity, mixed with other chemicals, to be of maximum benefit to acid loving plants.

In addition to their value as a mulch (they contain 93.1 per cent organic matter) they also supply some fertilizer, he added. A chemical breakdown is as follows: 2 per cent nitrogen, 4 per cent phosphoric acid and .5 per cent potassium.

So save coffee grounds and grow azaleas. Consider yourself blessed if you have a friend in the restaurant business.

Garden Keeps Kids Happy and Interested

When the junior cowboy in your family tires of chasing imaginary Indians, why not introduce him to a more tangible adventure, that of gardening?

Bring him down to earth by teaching him the intriguing mysteries and rewarding realities of the everyday world in which he lives.

In order to stimulate and hold a youngster's interest in his first garden, there're several things to keep in mind.

He won't be too excited about this new adventure if he hears the word "work" connected with it, so stress the fun and pleasure he'll enjoy in his gardening efforts and let him know that you're just as interested in his new project as he is.

KEEP the garden pint-size for a young beginner so he'll be able to handle it himself. If it's too big, chances are he'll get bored with it.

A plot about six feet by nine feet is just about right for beginners. Youngsters are short on patience and want quick results, so help him select seeds of flowers and vegetables that require a minimum of care and grow the fastest.

Children of all ages are attracted by color, so start him out with some flowers in his garden. Among the hardy annuals he'll enjoy planting and growing are margolds, zinnias, bachelor buttons, nasturtiums and morning glories.

In the vegetable group, lettuce, radishes, cucumbers, tomatoes and beans are easy to grow.

It's a good idea to encourage him to plant both flowers and vegetables in his first garden. For, it's in his first impressions of the perfect form and delightful color and scent of flowers that a youngster learns to appreciate the delicate beauty in a garden.

These vitamin and mineral-rich vegetables will assume a new importance for your youngster when they appear on the family dinner table.

START this horticultural pursuit by sitting down with the potential gardener and working out a plan of action.

Sharing this experience with him from beginning to end will prove to be as rewarding for as it is for him.

After you've talked over and selected the seeds he'll want to plant, explain the gardening details that go into planting a successful garden. Create in your youngster's mind a sense of responsibility for his garden and see that he sticks to it. His pride in his results will justify all his (and your) efforts.

Heavy Schedule For Gardeners

Garden minded persons have a heavy schedule ahead if they want to take advantage of the many flower shows and meetings that are being planned for the next two months.

Today and Sunday the Dayton Council of Garden Club of Ohio is having its annual spring show at Dayton Memorial Hall. This is an event outstanding in the flower show world. Always a large show, it is known for its beautiful staging.

The spring meeting of the Ohio Council of Nationally Accredited Amateur Judges will be held at the Halle Bros. downtown store in Cleveland. Registration will begin at 10 a. m. Election of officers will be held during the morning session and Myra J. Brooks, author and flower arrangement demonstrator, will be the afternoon speaker.

On May 1 at Shade's Restaurant, Canal Winchester, the Columbus Council, Garden Club of Ohio, will have the opportunity to hear Mrs. William H. Barton, national chairman of National Council Flower Shows. Luncheon will be served at noon.

Have a Nature Question? Just Ask Floyd Bartley

By MRS. ELIZABETH JONES
Herald Garden Editor

If his friends had it their way, Floyd Bartley, Route 4, Circleville, would not be in Pickaway County on Sunday evenings. No sir! He'd be in a certain isolation booth on the $64,000 Question TV program.

This well known local naturalist has answered more nature questions for more people than there are stars in the sky.

And his Pickaway County acquaintances are certain that this amazingly informed man who styles himself as a "nature crank" could answer any question that comes his way.

His category? The whole outdoors! Bartley has collected specimens from all over the United States but Ohio is his real laboratory. He not only knows Ohio wild flowers but also birds, insects, beetles, reptiles, grasses, weeds, mosses, fish and animals of the woods.

Bartley, a slightly built, ruddy-cheeked farmer with keen blue eyes that never miss a detail has been a lover of nature ever since he was a kid. He recalls that as soon as school was out he and his sister would rush home, grab a couple of slices of jelly bread and head for the woods.

As a youngster he felt a certain frustration when he could not identify plants that he found in the woods. And he made up his mind that he was going to learn all about such things.

HIS FATHER encouraged his boys in their love of nature. Bartley remembers many times when his Dad would mark a bird's nest in the field by a stick in the ground and then caution his sons, "Plover around that stick. There's a bird's nest there."

His curiosity about the plants he encountered never waned. He made up his mind to learn everything there was to learn. And he did. A self-taught botanist he has rubbed elbows with all the nationally recognized authorities in this field.

There was something familiar about Harry S. Truman's appearance before a congressional committee. It involved another of his frequent brushes with the press, and this time he would have been wiser to let well enough alone.

Truman should have known better, even Arthur Krock, the highly respected correspondent of the New York Times, in 1950 that "A certain amount of unemployment, say from three to five millions, is support-

He Gets Ahead from Top Down

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—In most fields a man gets ahead by going from the bottom to the top.

George Abou ben Hamid—may his tribe increase!—did it the other way. Now one of America's leading showmen, he won success by working his way from the top to the bottom.

"I started as an acrobat at the age of 7 in Lebanon," explained Hamid. "The novice always acts as top man on the human pyramid. His goal is to work down until he is the ground man and holds the others up."

Hamid now runs the world's largest booking agency for thrill acts. He owns the Steel Pier at Atlantic City and a chain of movie houses. He also is currently staging the Beatty-Hamid-Morton Circus, billed as the largest under canvas.

But at 62, George, one of the top tumblers of his time, can still turn a cartwheel in his office and thinks it isn't a bad way for a busy executive to pep up his circulation.

"I could probably still do a somersault—maybe for Marilyn Monroe," he remarked genially.

Hamid has known most of the entertainment figures of two generations, but his lifelong favorites are Col. William (Buffalo Bill) Cody and Annie Oakley, star marksman with the colonel's famous Wild West show.

"I came to this country with the show 50 years ago," he recalled. "Annie Oakley bought me my first primer and taught me to read. She gave me the only schooling I ever had."

"Col. Cody made a pet of me. I remember making lemonade for him during the summertime. I started with him for 25 cents a week."

"Buffalo Bill was my hero. No man since has been worshiped in quite the way he was. They even closed the schools when he came to town."

It was after the Buffalo Bill show folded in 1913 that Hamid started in the booking field finding jobs for the stranded acts.

Today he runs a multimillion-dollar operation and culls the world for acts.

Although he has booked the highest-priced talent in the show world, his own heart still is with the lower-paid circus performers who may risk death for a low wage.

"It turns me up to pay a singer $25,000 a week," he said, "when a tightrope walker who spent years learning his skill and puts his life in his feet every time he goes up can get only $350 to $400. It's an injustice. But the public determines the pay."

What distinguishes circus performers from the ordinary people who go to see them?

"They have a pride in family tradition," said Hamid. "One circus family tries to outdo the other. Within a family the son tries to outdo his father."

"Life isn't so much of a challenge to most people. But life is a challenge every day to circus performers. That is why they seldom ever quit willingly."

Money Trust Poses Problem

By George Sokolsky

It is an old story in the United States that the power over the flow of money tends to become concentrated. Wall Street has become the symbol of such a concentration because Wall Street is the money market of the country.

Usually, it is spoken of as the stock market, but a share of stock is nothing more than a receipt for money, negotiable and exchangeable and having fluctuation value because it can be sold for money.

Populistic and other agrarian movements, throughout American history, have been aimed at the money power and there have been innumerable Congressional investigations, one of the most significant being the Pujol Committee (1912-13) which directly attacked the money trust. Laws have been set up to control private power over the money of the nation and its uses in the market for the distribution of money into new and expanding industry and commerce.

For this purpose, the SEC was organized and controls were set up with the object of policing the flow of money from the public into enterprises. There are only two places where large reservoirs of money exist, namely, in the government, either by the accumulation of taxes, or among the people's savings wherever deposited. The SEC has neither the money nor the personnel to do an adequate job of policing the use of money in stock transactions. It is now up against a larger and more concentrated money power than J. P. Morgan ever knew, and it lacks the facilities, to say nothing of the will, to do the job.

The very able writer on financial matters, Leslie Gould, has often called attention to the failures and faults of the SEC and whereas his facts are always correct, I am not sure that blaming the SEC adequately covers the problem. First, the law is inadequate; secondly, SEC should either be an administrative or a judicial body and not both as it is now; thirdly, the pay of commissioners should be high enough to attract personnel who will not eventually have to

Help Children Overcome Fears

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Watch out for colds as the weather begins to get warmer. We know that epidemics of colds often follow a change in atmospheric conditions. And passage of a cold front often brings an increase in the number of colds within two or three days.

This is true no matter where you live.

A cold climate doesn't necessarily mean the residents will have more colds. As a matter of fact, residents of the southern states usually have more colds than those in other parts of the nation.

The best place to avoid a cold apparently is on the Eastern Seaboard. Persons living there generally have fewer colds than the average for the nation as a whole. Yet making your own climate doesn't help prevent colds.

People once had the silly idea that sleeping on a porch with the windows open to cold air was a good way to toughen yourself against colds. This, of course, is nonsense, since the chilly temperature may even aggravate a cough or a cold.

But exposure does not necessarily start a cold. British researchers proved this by taking some cold-free volunteers, soaking them in hot baths and then having them stand undried in bathrobes in a cold corridor.

They remained there at least half an hour.

Then they put on wet socks and wore them for several hours. Not one of them came down with a cold. Thus, while chilling can lower your resistance to a cold virus, it is not enough by itself to start a common cold. You catch a cold by being contaminated by a virus.

The best way to avoid a cold, therefore, is to avoid anyone who has one. But this, of course, is extremely difficult to do.

A cough can spray particles 15 feet or more, propelling them from the mouth at a speed of about 120 miles per hour. Anyone nearby is apt to inhale this germ-laden spray, and another person falls victim to the common cold.

Keep your resistance up and you'll have a better chance of avoiding a cold and a better chance of fighting it off if you do catch one.

Just use common sense. Live sensibly, get plenty of rest, eat balanced, nutritious meals and avoid getting wet or chilled.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fifty years ago Ezra Pound was fired from his teaching job at Wabash College for being too much the bohemian. It was a time of sterility, soothing syrup and bleak puritanism in American literature.

He protested and wanted to correct it. To do it, he left the America he grew up in and went to Europe. He spent the rest of his life there calling the mass of Americans dolts.

Last week in federal court he heard a judge dismiss a treason charge against him because doctors said he was hopelessly insane—although not the kind to hurt anyone.

Photographers wanted a picture. He posed with his collar open, his shirttails sticking out, a beat-up black felt hat on his head and a yellow scarf around his neck. He was still the bohemian, but dilapidated now, and terribly tired-looking at 72.

What had happened in those 50 years? He had become a famous poet; a tremendous good and creative force in literature; a benefactor to many artists; and, the government charged, a traitor because he broadcast Fascist propaganda from Italy during World War II.

English literature is the greater for his having been alive. The debt to him is not so much for his own poetry—moments of brilliance amid acres of obscurity and incoherence—as for his creative influence.

He meant his great work to be his cantos. He worked on them for decades. An epic on the human comedy, he called them. Critic Edmund Wilson dismissed them as a "monument . . . to a kind of poetic bankruptcy."

But Carl Sandburg acknowledged years ago that Pound has "done the most of living men to incite new impulses in poetry."

This was the creative influence which Pound asserted in many ways and on many people:

By driving for new forms of expression; by breaking down in this country frozen or prudish barriers to the publication of new and original work; by his advice to other artists and the financial help and audience he got for them; and by the self-discipline he could impose on others but could never impose on himself entirely.

These were some of the men he helped in one way or another: James Joyce, William Butler Yeats, D. H. Lawrence, Robert Frost, T. S. Eliot, Ernest Hemingway.

There was an adolescence in Pound. Critic Malcolm Cowley, who visited him in Paris in 1933, quoted Pound as saying he wrote to shock the public. The recognition he got in this country was very limited, and late.

History may regard Pound not so much as an artist himself but what he set out to be at Wabash: a teacher.

Spices, Herbs and Wines
Topic By David Craven

Mr. David Craven, a superb cook and authority on the uses of spices, herbs and wines, addressed the Gourmet Study Group of the American Assn. of University Women, when it met in the home of Mrs. Harold Clifton, 307 South Court Street.

Mr. Craven has lived in many countries, and various states and has eaten and prepared favorite foods familiar to each.

He traced the use of the better known spices from the beginning of written history to our present day use. In the beginning some were used as preservatives, particularly pepper. The pepper family is varied in color as well as use. Cinnamon is almost as important and may be used in stick form as well as ground.

With emphasis on the unusual rather than the ordinary in present day cooking many spices are finding their way to our cupboard. Majoram, oregano, and curry powder, which is a blend of many things, are examples.

The rule for the use of wines in cooking is simple, serve a white wine with white meat, a red wine with dark meat, the exception being pork which does not require a wine.

Mr. Craven stated that there is no measurement or rule for the use of spices as we do not use them to flavor only to enhance the existing flavor of the dish being prepared.

He shared some of his culinary secrets with his listeners and gave them one of his favorite recipes for preparing chicken, one that is still good even if the guests are an hour late.

Refreshments were served to the members, Mrs. Craven, and the speaker, by the hostess.

Smart Girl Never Attempts To Change Man, Actor Says

By VIVIAN BROWN

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—If your man adores wide open spaces, don't try to wean him away. It won't work anyway. It's better that you learn to like his green pastures, says singer and movie actor Guy Mitchell, an outdoor man, and proud owner of a 17,000-acre ranch near here.

"An easy way to lose a man," he says, "is to insist he give up a life he loves. Even if you are shy about sports, riding a horse, for instance, try to learn anyway. Admit you are a beginner, let your boy take the lead rope, and he'll feel like a knight."

It's a good idea, though, not to take lessons from a boy you like. "You'll think every valid criticism is a personal affront," says Mitchell, who found out by trying to teach his own wife.

On the other hand, don't try to impress your friend, if you are a neophyte, by asking for a spirited horse at the riding stables. He'll know the difference, and you'll just be miserable riding over your head.

"The first-time rider would do well not to ride a horse from public stables," he says. "It's better to ride a horse that a friend owns, or one at a dude ranch. Don't hesitate to be ladylike, asking for the mounting block etc."

Every guy pictures himself as adventurous, says Mitchell, and women should go along with the idea to help prove he is a hero.

"So you don't like moose hunting, and he does," says Mitchell, "stay in camp and read a book, while your man is out bagging a record moose. He'll have to talk it over with someone when he gets back to camp, and he'd rather it was you."

Your job is to look pretty, he says. No man objects to a girl dressing like a big game hunter, even if she can't hit the side of a barn.

"If she's a good sport, you can like her, and you can't always say that about the girl you love, if she is difficult. My wife always looks charming on the ranch, in her frontier pants and chie shirts. She goes along with my plans, no matter what."

Mitchell was pretty low financially when he proposed, and explained that he might be forced to go back to cowboy work. But she took that with easy grace, and they were married, anyway.

His fortunes looked up, he bought the ranch from his friend, Audie Murphy, and now plans to make it another boys town.

"I'm going to take boys from underprivileged homes, boys recommended by welfare workers and first-time delinquents. I'll take a few incorrigible no-gooders, too," says Mitchell, "just to see what'll happen when a boy gets away from it all. The worst kid in the world can change under the influence of good actors."

Cool eggs as fast as possible after they have been hard-cooked to prevent the formation of a green ring where yolk and white meet.

Good way to cook bacon for a crowd: place it on a rack in a shallow baking pan so that the fat edge of the slices overlap the lean edges. Then bake on the top shelf of a hot oven, without turning, for 15 minutes or until as crisp as desired.

Next time you make a meat loaf, turn it out of the pan and coat the top and sides with diluted catchup, then put it back in the oven again for a slight glaze. Garnish with parsley and send to the table.

Car Destroyed By Flames

Two southern Ohio men lost some clothing and a 1949 Buick at 9:28 p. m. Saturday when the auto was destroyed by fire.

Harrison Twp. Fire Department was called to fight the blaze which happened a mile south of South Bloomfield on Route 23. The auto was owned by the United Cement Contractors and Sons.

Driving the car was Robert Ratcliff, 21, Portsmouth. Elisha J. Watts, 22, Wellston was a passenger. They were en route to their homes from work in Marion.

Ratcliff said he smelled smoke coming from under the rear seat during the trip from Marion, but fire didn't break out until just south of South Bloomfield.

Youths Vote Against Ohio Death Penalty

COLUMBUS (AP)—If a legislature which met here this weekend had been the real one, instead of one sponsored by the YMCA, the death sentence would no longer exist in Ohio. Also illegal would be hitchhiking and scholarships for needy students.

The model legislature, arranged by the YMCA to show 445 Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y teen-agers how Ohio's government works, abolished capital punishment and replaced it with life imprisonment.

It also approved mandatory inspection of rest homes, compulsory anti-rabies inoculations for dogs and 11 other bills.

Two measures, including a compulsory civil defense bill which he said conflicted with federal planning and made no provision for costs, were vetoed by Hi-Y Gov. Stephen Beckeler of Middletown.

Also killed was a so-called right-to-work bill. The young lawmakers instead adopted a joint resolution calling for a referendum on the proposal, which would outlaw union shops.

And education came in for a going-over from the young people. They voted down scholarships for needy students, aid for furthering teachers' education, financial support for scholastic athletic programs, mandatory driver education, and uniform pay scales for teachers with cost-of-living raises.

Carolina Senate Appointee Rapped

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—Two friends of the late Sen. W. Kerr Scott (D-NC) have spoken out bitterly against the man chosen by Gov. Luther Hodges to take Scott's place in the Senate.

B. Everett Jordan, a Saxapahaw textile manufacturer and at one time a Scott political associate, received the appointment Saturday. Scott died last Wednesday.

The Jordan selection brought a strong attack from Terry Sanford of Fayetteville and Ben Roney, Scott's assistant.

Both Sanford and Roney suggested that Hodges had named Jordan to hold the Senate seat only until 1960, when Hodges' term as governor will expire.

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Two Ohio escapees still are believed holed up somewhere in this city.

Summit County, Ohio, officers are expected soon to pick up a third escapee from the jail, Jack Raymond Adey, 23, who was captured Friday.

Still at large are Frank Spence, 28, and Richard Hoskinson, 23. They were believed to have fled the Norfolk area until a man tentatively identified as Spence raided a home Saturday night.

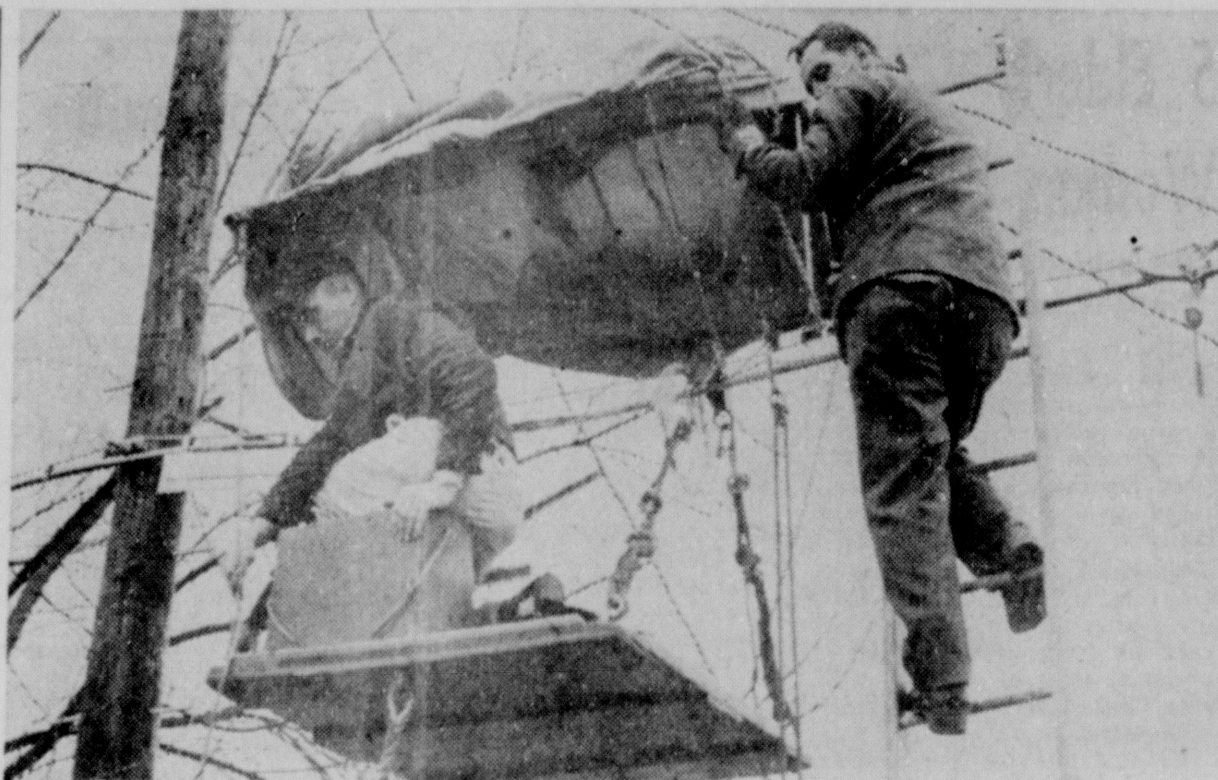

Malcolm H. Allen, 65, was held prisoner for 90 minutes before the intruder escaped in stolen clothing. Allan, shown a picture of Spence, told police it resembled his assailant.

LONDON (AP)—Quitting smoking?

It's easier as a gang enterprise than it is for one unhappy man trying on his own, insists Britain's National Society of Non-smokers.

The organization is inviting the addicts to make a big heave-ho together, lean on each other, and exchange strength when the flesh weakens.

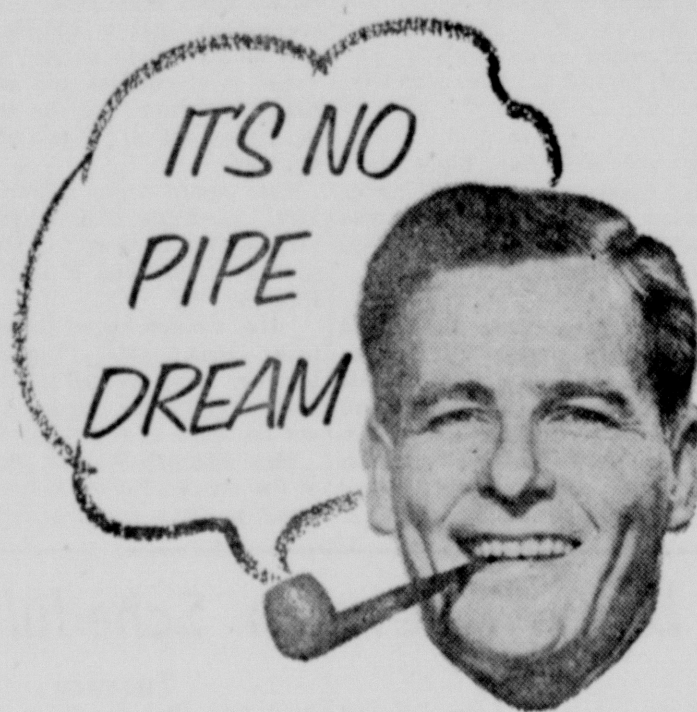

The technique resembles that of Alcoholics Anonymous.

A country wide campaign will start in London next month.
